Inspire a Love of Reading

Dolly launched the Imagination Library to honour her father who was smart and hardworking, but never learned to read or write. The programme is meant to give children from all walks of life, and from around the world a chance that Dolly's father never had.

Children aged birth to five who are registered with the programme receive a free, age-appropriate book posted to their home each month until age five.

Dolly Parton believes that if you can read, you can do anything, dream anything, and be anything. Through her Imagination Library programme, she wants to ensure all children have books at home, regardless of the environment in which they live.

Dolly Parton's Imagination Library puts books into the hands and hearts of children around the world. We partner with local communities to provide a free, high-quality book each month to registered children from birth to age five. The books are hand selected by a committee of early childhood experts to be age-appropriate and align with the child's developmental needs.

Books are personalised with the child's name and posted directly to their home to create a gifting experience that makes books exciting and special.

A love of books and reading offers the foundation for literacy skills that set children up for future success. Dolly Parton's Imagination Library levels the playing field for all children by helping them build a home library of their very own and encouraging increased interaction with carers around books and reading.

"You can never get enough books into the hands of enough children."

The Dollywood Foundation covers programme overheads by providing the custom-built Book Order System and coordinating the book selection, procurement, and fulfillment processes. In addition, the Dollywood Foundation purchases high-quality, customized books at scale, significantly reducing cost. With these contributions, our local partners are only required to cover the at-cost book and postage expenses for children registered in their coverage area.

Funders and local partners facilitate the cost of providing books so there is no cost to children and families. This approach, along with the model that the programme is available to all children and families in a covered area, helped Dolly Parton's Imagination Library receive a coveted Best Practice Award from the U.S. Library of Congress for addressing social barriers to literacy.

With funding and local community partnerships, the Imagination Library is able to provide an age-appropriate book each month to every child registered in the programme, absolutely free to the family.

The average retail cost of Imagination Library titles is about £10 per book. However, by purchasing in volume, the Imagination Library is able to acquire and post customised titles for about £2.05 per child per month.

The Journal of the American Academy of Pediatrics states that reading aloud to children at a young age can positively impact a child's brain development: When preschool children listen to stories, it activates the areas of their brains that are associated with processing images and narrative comprehension. It also exposes children to a larger, more diverse vocabulary and greater variety of sentence structures than just talking to them.
